Verification changes for 2012-2013!

Each year, a percentage of all students that file the FAFSA form are selected, by the U.S. Department of Education, for verification. In basic terms, this means that the school must verify that the information submitted on the FAFSA form is valid and correct.

Beginning with the Fall 2012 Semester, the U.S. Department of Education has implemented drastic changes in the manner in which all schools must verify this information. Please note the attached documents which detail these changes.
