EXHIBIT B: DEFINITION OF MAINTENANCE ACTIVITIES

The philosophy of the building maintenance program is as follows. These definitions are not all inclusive but simply state general terminology relating to each category of work.

1. Preventive Maintenance: Regularly scheduled maintenance on all mechanical systems within or on University property, which are used for day to day operations. This type of maintenance includes inspecting equipment functional operations, and minor maintenance such as replacing or tightening belts, lubricating bearings, replacing filters, which assure a long term operating condition.

2. Corrective Maintenance: The repairs to University real property that has deteriorated, broken, or worn out and cannot be used for its intended purpose. This includes minor maintenance on components of air conditioning systems, heating systems, and any structurally related items. The key is minor repairs; major repairs to such systems as failed chillers, boilers, and roofs normally do not fall within the day to day responsibility and require board approval and appropriation of funds to support the repairs. It is essential that small maintenance problems be responded to quickly as they will become worse if left unattended.

3. Facility Improvement/Modernization: The major alteration of an existing system which changes its present configuration; install or construct an addition to a facility or mechanical system; to completely revamp or replace major components of a facility. These are all high cost items that should be planned for and funded in each fiscal year’s budget. However, action sometimes must be taken to eliminate a safety or health hazard and the only funds available are the maintenance funds. Extreme caution must be used when utilizing these funds so as not to jeopardize funds needed for the day-to-day operations. No more than 5% productive hours should ever be obligated for this type of work requirement.

4. Facility Safety Maintenance Programs: To inspect or have inspected the fire sprinkler, security and alarm systems by certified inspectors to ensure they are functionally operational. The inspection and annual certification of fire extinguishers also falls within this category. All efforts to repair these systems should be attempted by the maintenance department. Any system that is antiquated or has been abandoned in past years should be considered for replacement and funds appropriated through board actions. Approximately 5% of productive hours should be used for this type of work requirement.

5. Capital Improvement: These funds have been appropriated through the use of special taxation or bond issues. Priorities should be established for each University year for those large projects beyond normal University maintenance capabilities. Items such as replacing roofs, additions to facilities, buying new facilities, altering or any construction work would normally come from this fund. All decisions on the utilization of these funds require board action.

6. Productive hours: Are the hours used to maintain the buildings exclusive of sick, vacation, holiday or other negotiated time off.
