ALABAMA A&M UNIVERSITY

"Service is Sovereignty"

Letter from the President

Dear AAMU Stakeholders:

This nearly 150-year-old institution owes much of its success to the thousands of individuals who have backed their belief in the institution by whatever resources they had available to them. Some were agrarian workers with hardly the clothes on their backs nor $2 in their pockets. Then, as the generations progressed, so too, did the giving. Last year for instance, the University received a $2.2 million anonymous gift from persons who loved and believed in it.

This brings us to the Alabama A&M University Foundation. The Foundation is not only the keeper of the treasury, but for more than 50 years it has been responsible for strategies that help the University to maneuver in those vast spaces outside of classrooms, labs, dorms and athletics. Through the Foundation, the University pools financial resources, invests them prudently and devises strategic ways to allocate resources that will be there for the needs of future students.

Toward this end, we know that transparency and accuracy is key. Thus, we will do everything in our power to account for every cent given in support of the noble land-grant mission of teaching, research and service. We welcome Mr. Jamal Ali, an AAMU alumnus, to the President's Cabinet, and to the helm of the University's Foundation. We are expecting visionary things from him, and we have every reason to believe he will take this respected entity to the next level.

Please accept this publication as our earnest endeavor to apprise you of the status of this five-decade-old financial resource. If you are already an established donor, we believe that you will be further inspired to continue supporting the Council Legacy. If you are not yet a part of the vision, we hope that you will be lured into the fold.

This is but one of a yearly series of documents that will keep you abreast of the power of your contributions and their impact on the lives of our greatest assets—our students.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in blue ink that reads "Daniel Wims".

Daniel K. Wims

President

Letter from the Vice President

Dear Supporters of Alabama A&M University:

We are pleased to provide our Annual Report, which reflects donor activity from October 1, 2020, through September 30, 2021. Because of your generosity, we achieved historic fundraising levels in FY21. From the stellar $1 million in contributions during Class Reunion weekend up to the $2.2 million donation by an anonymous young Normalite, our alumni and supporters continue to prove their love for AAMU and to advance its mission!

For this very reason—to supplement the University's fundraising efforts—the AAMU Foundation was established in 1969. For more than 50 years, it has received, held, invested, used and administered property of all kinds. The Foundation ably carried out all of these various functions for all assets—whether given absolutely or in trust for the benefit of the University and its extensive educational, research, cultural, public service and support initiatives.

Moreover, AAMU's Development staff are committed to ensuring that all gifts received are properly recorded and acknowledged. Donations given in support of academic or athletic programs, need-based scholarships and student organizations afford our students access to unlimited opportunities as they complete their degree programs.

As always, thank you for your unwavering support of our university. Indeed, your gifts allow us to fulfill the Council Legacy by ensuring an affordable and accessible education to as many future Normalites as possible. Go, Bulldogs!

Sincerely,

DONOR HIGHLIGHTS

RONALD '70 PATRICIA '75

When Ronald McIntosh talks about Alabama A&M University, even on the telephone, it is hard to ignore a sense of bravado in his voice. And, as the voice of the 1970 graduate rhythmically crescendos and pauses in silence to collect a maroon thought, it is also easy to recognize the epitome of a true Bulldog.

Ron and his wife, Patricia, or "Pat" as she is often called, are avid AAMU supporters and have been since they first met at Xerox in Huntsville in September of 1970. Their two children, Ronald, Jr., and Patrice, are also A&M alums. Although Pat completed her undergraduate studies at Fisk University in Nashville, Tenn., she earned her master's degree at A&M and, as a member of the campus' McCalep dynasty, she actually grew up on the AAMU campus, where there is a vocational building named in honor of her father. The only reason Pat did not attend A&M herself, she says, is because she wanted to get away from home. Yet she has always maintained a special place in her heart for A&M and to date, she and her husband have made a lifetime contribution to this historic institution.

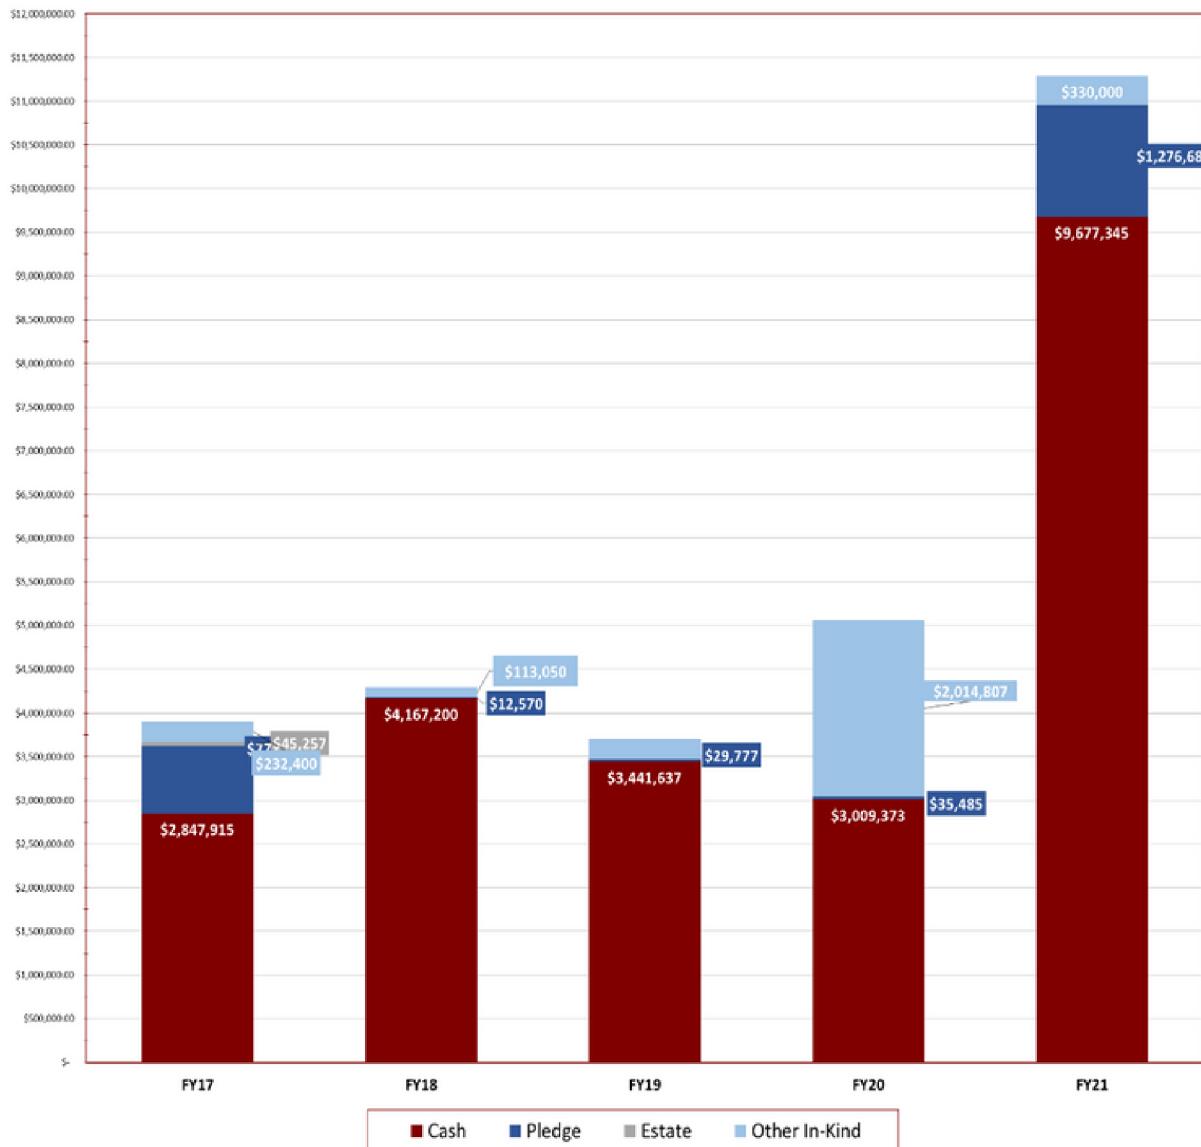

Ron is a native of Birmingham, Ala., where he graduated from Jackson-Olin High School and immediately set his sights on attending Alabama A&M. "When I came to A&M, there was a real family environment," recalled Ron. "We knew all the teachers, whether we had a class with them or not, and they knew us by name. Then there was the view from The Hill ... the setting, the peace and tranquility. It was a place where you wanted to be."

Ron said that the atmosphere of the campus was so positively overwhelming that many students continued their enrollment year-round. "As a student coming from Birmingham in the tough 1960s," explained Ron, "A&M was a haven. We had everything we needed right on campus," he said. There were movies, he noted, a well-run Lyceum series that included the likes of opera singer Leontyne Price and others, on-campus church services, and much more. All of these amenities were made available to students, and adventurous students could even venture out into a significantly more tolerant city.

But, at least in his eyes, A&M somehow seemed to have it together. For instance, the biology major received superb support from his mentor, Dr. Alyce Jenkins, and, as a student who always tended to hang out with the athletes, he ultimately developed an almost father and son relationship with legendary Coach Louis Crews. Alabama A&M pooled together a wide array of special people at a special time and place when all that truly mattered was service.

This is the reason that Ron feels so adamant about the importance of giving back.

DONOR HIGHLIGHTS

TROY '70 SUE '72

"TO WHOM MUCH IS GIVEN, MUCH WILL BE REQUIRED," (LUKE 12:48)

The Bible teaches that if you have been blessed with money, ability, talent, time, or resources, you should use those blessings to benefit others. We are proud alums of A&M. I am a member of the Class of 1970, and Sue is a member of the Class of 1972. Additionally, our youngest son, Ryan, is a 2005 graduate of the University. As a student who attended A&M on a basic economic opportunity grant (BEOG), much was given to me thus, I am required to give back so that others may cross the bridge I have already navigated. My mom was a domestic worker and my dad drove spikes, building railroads. They informed me at high school graduation that they had no money to send me to college, something I already instinctively knew. Neither parent graduated high school, but they were smart people who worked hard, but living paycheck to paycheck prevented them from accumulating any wealth. I owe much of my success to Dr. Alice Jenkins (Biology Professor), who asked me to consider medical school as a career, and Mrs. Audrey Vinson, who taught me how to write well and speak well in public. I credit Mrs. Vinson with my success at Cornell Law School, an Ivy League school, where writing was more important than talking (We had one written test per class per semester).

Sue's grandmother left her a small inheritance that she used to make her way from Lafayette, Alabama, to Normal's Hill. As a result, Sue just recently celebrated her Golden Class Anniversary. Giving back to A&M is natural for our family. I started giving back in my early 30s as a member of the Alabama A&M University Board of Trustees. I had no money to give at the time so I would simply sign the back of my mileage check for round trip Board meetings from Montgomery to Normal and send it back to the University. The check was probably $75 to $150, but I would do that two or three times a year. As our careers progressed and we had more discretionary income, our contributions to A&M increased with the lifetime goal of giving at least $100,000. We have met and exceeded that goal and are now proud members of the Normal Legacy Society.

Giving back is the right thing to do, but we aren't finished yet.

GALA CO-CHAIRS

MRS. JACQUELYN BENNETT

MR. ROOSEVELT CONLEY

MR. LEROY DANIELS

Conceived by members of the Collaborative University Business and Industry Cluster (CUBIC) in 2001, the Black Tie Scholarship Gala was created as a way to raise scholarship dollars and to build institutional awareness while bringing together students, faculty, staff, and community leaders for a common cause. Twenty-one years later, the scholarship gala is Alabama A&M University's premier fundraising event designed to support talented students who demonstrate a financial need. Of our approximately 6,000 students, over 91% receive some form of financial aid. A significant portion of these students must postpone their academic and professional goals, because they simply cannot afford to pay tuition.

The 19th annual gala was held on April 26, 2019 and it was the largest fundraising year for the gala to date yielding over $538,000! As a result, the Black Tie Gala endowed scholarship was established. The scholarship is need-based and provides financial assistance to students with outstanding balances. Scholarships are awarded each Fall and Spring semester.

We were looking forward to celebrating the milestone 20th Annual Black Tie Scholarship Gala (A Roaring 20s Affair) in April 2020. However, due to the impending COVID-19 pandemic, the event was postponed. The extraordinary burden faced by our students and the University community during this time strengthened our resolve to host the scholarship gala in a safe, interactive, and entertaining format that continued to highlight our students' academic and creative prowess. Thus, we held our first virtual Black-Tie Scholarship Gala!

Production for the first virtual gala was held in October 2020, and the gala streamed on Friday, November 13, 2020 via ViewStub. The virtual event was a success to say the least. Students were able to celebrate their accomplishments and members of the community were able to hear and see exactly how their contributions change students' academic and professional trajectories despite the uncertain times caused by the pandemic. Although we planned for an in-person 2021 gala, we once again found ourselves planning the second virtual event. Production for the 2021 Black Tie Scholarship Gala was held in April 2021 and was streamed via ViewStub on Friday, May 28, 2021.
