

NEWSLETTER--“Go Bulldogs!”

Below are the guidelines for the student section of the Write Place Newsletter

Student Submissions

All A&M students are welcome to submit their creative works for publication in the newsletter, with the understanding that The “Write Place” staff reserves the right to accept or reject submissions.

What to submit

Students can submit short stories, poems, artwork or short articles about topics of interest or importance to A&M students. The word limit is 150 words (or less) for all submission except short stories which should not exceed 3 typewritten pages.

The following are sections of the newsletter for which we will accept submissions:

1. Student Spotlight—

- write an article about a student who has done something noteworthy—have they done charity work? Received a reward or honor?
- provide a link to and description of a student website or YouTube channel—we want to showcase our students’ best work!

2. Words from a Bulldog—

- Share a favorite quote or mantra that you live by. If it’s a quote by someone else, include the person’s name and explain why this message matters!
- If you have your own quote, even better! Share it with us.

3. Food for thought—

- Do you have a Top 10 list of the best books or movies that you want to share?
- Book or Movie review—write a review of a book or movie you’ve seen, tell us why we should or shouldn’t see it too!

How to submit

1. Download and complete The “Write Place” newsletter Submission Form and input all required information
2. Save form and any additional content as both a Word and PDF document and attach to email.
3. Email submissions to thewritingcenteraamu@gmail.com

Multiple submissions

You may submit more than one thing, but a separate “Write Place” Newsletter Submission Form must be completed for each submission.

Submission standards/rubric

All content will be assessed according to The “Write Place” standards. These standards are available on our website.
