PROFESSIONAL OBJECTIVE

I will incorporate updated information systems technologies in teaching. To provide environment and opportunities that will enhance the ambitions of my students for future success in life and Corporate World. I plan to write books on Computer Applications in Business and Government.

EDUCATION

DBA, in Quality Systems Management. The National Graduate School, June 2016
MS, in Computer Science, Alabama A&M University, May 1992.
MBA, in Business Administration/Finance, Alabama A&M University, May 1986.
BS, in Accounting, Alabama A&M University, July 1984.

EXPERIENCE

1988 TO PRESENT: Assistant Professor: Department of Management and Marketing, College of Business and Public Affairs, Alabama A&M University, Normal, Alabama. Courses taught include: Computer Application in Business, Data Communications and Networks, Human Resource Management, International Business, Introduction to Information Systems, Management Information Systems, Management Science, Organizational Behavior, Principles of Management, Production and Operations Management, Systems Development Project, Systems Analysis and Design Methods and Network Security. Other duties and responsibilities include but not limited to academic advising to undergraduate management majors, and faculty advising to three student organizations (Delta Mu Delta International Honor Society, Phi Beta Lambda Business Fraternity, Inc. and North Alabama Student Chapter of Society For Human Resource Management). I also serve on Department, College and University committees.

1997 TO 2001: Production and Technical Specialist: SCI Systems, Huntsville, Alabama. I provided production and technical support to Micro-computer and Satellite Dish production and operations Departments.

AWARDS RECEIVED

I have received several awards from different Organizations including multiple recognitions by Who's Who Among America's Teachers, Educational Communications, Inc., in 1996, 2000, 2002, 2003 and 2005. I am the recipient of Alabama A&M University 2004 Office of Retention and Academic Support Bulldog Retention Award and one of the three recipients of the University's 2005 Teacher of The Year Award published in 2005 Year Book.

DEVELOPMENTAL PROGRAMS

I have participated in several Technology and Information Systems Seminars hosted by Publishers. I have been participating in the annual Future Business Leaders of America and Phi Beta Lambda Business Fraternity National Conference Events Administration and Coordination for over twenty years. I have hosted and taken my students to State and National Conferences where they have won several 1st, 2nd and 3rd prizes in several Business and Information Systems disciplines and related areas of competitions.

FUNDED PROJECTS

I have obtained Professional Open License and Software Support Agreements from Microsoft, Course Technology & McGraw-Hill Publishers for my Computer Applications and Information Systems classes.

PROFESSIONAL AFFILIATIONS
